

IKEA supported a reforestation at Hymettos mountain, in Attica

IKEA, as part of the Social Responsibility program of the FOURLIS Group, supported the first major reforestation of the new planting season at Hymettos mountain, in Attica.

The action was organized on Sunday, November 27th by A WOMAN CAN BE organization (<https://www.awomancanbe.org/>) in collaboration with the Union for the Protection & Development of Hymettos (<https://spay.gr/>), the Municipality of Hellinikon-Argyroupoli and the Volunteer Group LET'S DO IT GREECE.

The reforestation took place in the burnt areas of Hymettos, in the Argyroupoli area, giving life again to the area that was destroyed in 2015 by the big fire that started from the area of Vyronas and within a few hours burned thousands of stremmas up to Ilioupoli and Argyroupoli.

As part of this action, IKEA has taken over the reforestation's maintenance costs and specifically the seven waterings that are necessary during the fire protection period from May to October 2023.
